All,

I apologize, I thought I sent everyone the quote from Municode previously. Please find it attached. The breakdown is this:

- $1,000 to start the project (this will likely be more expensive as our current code is not able to be edited, and they will have to copy it all down first which adds time)
- $1,200 annually in maintenance.

This is in contrast to the quote from General Code:

- $1,946 start up
- $695 or $995 in maintenance, depending on options

I will present this information in more detail tonight.
